KRYPTOK GLASSES

We recommend KRYPTOK glasses. They will adjust your vision from written page to distant number instantly. KRYPTOKS and the assurance of having to remove your reading glasses repeatedly—or use two pairs of glasses—unlike the old style bifocals KRYPTOKS have no disfiguring line, seam, or bump. KRYPTOKS are crystal clear. They are double vision in usefulness but single vision in appearance.

LOCAL MENTION

—There were about two hundred papers written in the recent Regent's examinations at the High school.

—There were about 45 of the younger children of the city present at the Children's hour yesterday at the Huntington Memorial Library. Stories were read by Miss Dunn of the library staff and by Miss Cowan of the high school faculty, and many very pleasant minutes were spent.

BRILLIANT MUSICAL COMEDY.

R. P. O. E., 1212, Offering to of Unusual Interest to Playgoers.

About as brilliant a musical comedy as has ever been produced locally is "The Yokohama Maid," which is to be staged at the Elks' home auditorium on the evenings of Feb. 6, 7, 8. It is an oriental extravaganza of dazzling scenery and charming music, pretty girls, extremes of Japanese fashions in the most wonderful fabrics, all blended into scenes of unusual loveliness. "The Yokohama Maid" contains a wealth of tuneful melodies which will be interpreted by an orchestra of fifteen. Every song is a big hit and an entry by the various members of the cast, each one shines with a lustre that is most entrancing. There is a plot, to be sure—lots of good wholesome comedy far above the average interpreted by clever comedians. Tickets on sale at City Drug store. Those purchased from the members must be exchanged at this store.

HIGH SCHOOL CROWDED.

Total Registration of 530 For Academic Session Planned For 400 Students.

The Oneonta High school is crowded for room. The total registration for the present year is 520, with about 500 in daily attendance. The registration for next year gives every promise of at least 550. With the accommodations of the High school planned for 400 the present situation is acute and some action must be taken before the next school year.

Only the absolutely necessary classes can be started this term, and the majority of present classes number from thirty-five to forty members. With the maximum number of students which can be accommodated consistent with good work in a class set at thirty, it is evident that the situation requires general attention.

The inauguration of part time sessions or the dropping of supervised study periods offers the most ready solution. But will the people of Oneonta approve of this manner of relief?

Cashier Samuel H. Potter, Despondent, Ends Life

Many Years of Close Devotion to Business Results in Ill Health—Unable to Withstand Disappointment and Stress of Litigation Now Pending—Honesty and Probity Unquestioned.

Samuel H. Potter, cashier of the Wilber National bank, ended his own life by shooting, at his residence, 51 Ford avenue, early yesterday morning. Intelligence of this quickly spread over the city, causing universal expressions of regret and sorrow that one so efficient and capable in his responsible position and so useful and valuable to the institution, as well as highly prized by his family and friends, should have become so depressed as to take this rash step in a moment, when, after what was doubtless a sleepless night, he yielded to a sudden impulse to end it all. It was known to his family and intimates that he had taken seriously to heart impending litigation, in which he felt that his personal integrity had been and would be assailed, and while there is no doubt that he had—as have his friends—full confidence in his ability to prove his probity and honesty above reproach, he, doubtless, worried over the implication until his overwrought nervous system gave way under the stress. Abundantly attesting his standing in the community is the fact that there has been not the least rumor of any wrong doing whatever.

He complained on reaching his home the previous evening of being weary, though appearing cheery and happy with his family. He retired about 9 o'clock to his room for the night. None of the family saw or heard him until some time after 5 o'clock, when Mrs. Potter was awakened by the noise of someone attending the furnace. About five minutes later she heard a peculiar noise, which she concluded was a dish dropped. A moment or two later she heard a similar sound, followed instantly by what was interpreted as a body falling on the kitchen floor.

Mrs. Potter hurried at once to the kitchen. The body of Mr. Potter was found lying face upward at full length on the floor. All other rooms on the way to the kitchen were dark, but the lights were turned on and one glance at the body disclosed the all-convinced bullet wound in the temple, with a pool of blood near the side. She realized all at the once the situation. Summoning her son, Philip, with a request that he call Edward M. Ronan, who resides next door, she then called the doctor and asked the doctor to persevere until she had aroused Drs. David H. Mills and Norman W. Getman, at the same time intimating what had happened.

Mr. Ronan reached the home first, though he was quickly followed by the two physicians, who arrived at the same time. Examination by the medical men disclosed two bullets, one on the left side below the heart and the second in the right temple. It is assumed that he fired the first shot in the side and failing to reach a vital point then turned the revolver upon his head. The second resulted in instant death. Coroner Getman determined that the cause of death was too plainly evident and that no inquest was necessary. Mr. Potter had been his father's.

With a Disappointment.

Mr. Potter had been in the employ of the Wilber National bank for 24 years and as the institution grew from year to year, had assumed constantly increasing responsibilities, which in recent years were such as would have overtaxed the strength of many men apparently far more rugged than Mr. Potter. Not in a spirit of criticism, but of just comment, he devoted himself so assiduously to his duties that beyond doubt he neglected, as is so often done by men in sedentary pursuits, the physical exercise which preserves the perfect poise and that equitable balance of nerve force so essential to self control and good health.

The cold facts are that he remained with the Wilber National bank when other and more lucrative positions were opened to him upon assurances repeatedly given that he would lose nothing by doing so. When the will of the late George I. Wilber was read and its contents became known to Mr. Potter he experienced what was doubtless the keenest disappointment of his life.

He had remained here, it was known to his confidants and others, upon assurances that he would be a member and would be made executor and trustee of the estate. He was given ten shares of bank stock, was given clerical employ, while other officials with less responsibilities were awarded 50 shares. Naturally keenly sensitive, he felt deeply the discrimination shown.

The verbal agreement had been several times reiterated in the presence of David A. Diefendorf and, when Mr. Potter consulted with advisors, he was told that he had a perfectly legal claim against the estate and one that in justice to his family and himself, he should present. The claim was accordingly made out and properly verified and, as sustained by Mr. Diefendorf, the bank, upon advice of its attorney, Alva Seybolt, passed the claim and paid to Mr. Potter $15,000, the amount claimed to be due. Not that it possessed any legal value, but as evidence of their desire, a request from Hon. David F. Wilber and Mrs. Edith Wilber Mix, the chief residuary legatees, was presented that the claim be paid.

Public opinion, while of course lacking any knowledge of the legality of the claim, approved the action of the bank as just recognition of long and faithful service. The Star hearing no adverse criticism.

The salary of Mr. Potter had long been recognized by many directors as inadequate and by unanimous vote, it was increased from $4,000 to $6,000 annually, less by $1,500 than that paid in a nearby village in a bank with only a fractional part of the business.

his services were worth more than the amount now paid is generally agreed by all familiar with his work and capabilities.

Litigation Worried Him.

Mr. Potter stoically faced the situation when the will was read and failed not in his devotion to the bank, following the demise of Mr. Wilber, laboring even more zealously and untiringly. He was gratified, however, when his claim was allowed by the directors and it seemed to buoy him noticeably.

When, however, Mrs. Flora Lyon of Milford, who had succeeded in her action to have the courts declare that her legacy from the Wilber estate was payable at once and not at the end of the five-year period, commenced another action asking the removal of the bank as executor and trustee of the estate, quite probably because the bank decided to have the mooted question.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED

Names of Fourteen Members of Chamber of Commerce Submitted for Final Election of Seven Directors.

Fourteen members of the Chamber of Commerce were nominated for the directorate in the primary election which closed last evening and will stand as candidates in the final election, in which seven of the fourteen will be chosen.

Those nominated were: Albert W. Ackley, Charles J. Beams, I. J. Bookhout, Herbert C. Getman, M. C. Hemstreet, William H. Hoffman, Frank C. Huntington, B. C. Lauen, H. W. Lee, C. C. Miller, Lavern Palmer, E. M. Ronan, Arthur Seybolt and Riley J. Warren.

A close vote featured the primary election, only nine votes separating the leading and the lowest of the 14 nominees. Because of the large number of scattering votes, the task of canvassing the ballots required more than two hours of members of the election committee who acted as judges, Lewis F. Rose, W. E. McMorris, W. E. Fiske and Frank Fashley. Ballots for the final election are being prepared and will be mailed to the membership about Friday or Saturday. Each member will be requested to vote for seven of the 14 nominees, and the seven highest to a two year term, and the seventh highest to a one year term as directors. The final election will close Friday noon, February 2.

CLEAN BASEBALL UNDED

MINUTE MENINGERS THESE FANS OF IMPROVISED THAT GAME BE RETURNED REPROACH

Meeting of Adhuc Association at Elks' Club Highly Successful Affair—Financial Support Pledged—President Matt Given Magnificent Testimonial—Directors Elected.

"Play the game hard but square. It is better to have a team that is on the level but at the foot of the league than a pennant winner with a stain on its name or a crooked player in its lineup."

With these words Hugh Jennings, speaking to Oneonta fans at the annual meeting of the Community Athletic association held at the Elks' club last evening, summarized his conception of the ethics of the game which he has helped in no small measure to place upon its present high plane. Hughes' remarks were an inspiration to all present and an indication of the fact that old timers such as he have baseball so enshrined in their hearts that they are unwilling that a single black mark shall be set against it.

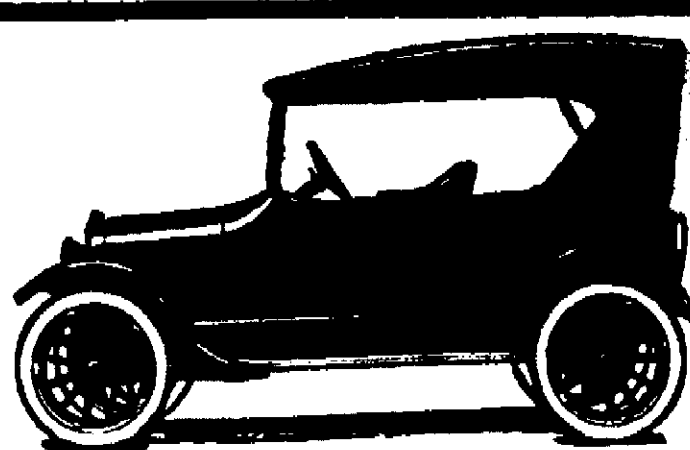

The meeting was well attended and provoked a considerable enthusiasm. It was the opinion of all that the city must have a team this summer and all seemed willing to help solve the financial problem. It was decided to ask 100 fans to guarantee $50 each, it being considered that the $5,000 thus raised will cover the deficit from last season and provide ample funds for the maintenance of the team this year. Subscription books will be given these men as well as others who desire to solicit $5 memberships. Several pledges were made last evening and a number of the books distributed.

Testimonial to President Marx.

During the course of the evening Dr. F. H. Marx, who has served the association faithfully and well ever since it was organized, was presented with a solid gold watch, chain, Elks' card case and Elks' tooth as a small testimonial of the regard in which he is held by the entire membership of the association. The presentation was made in behalf of the fans by Dr. F. J. McMenamin, who spoke of the earnest work of Dr. Marx in behalf of baseball in the city and of the personal sacrifices which he had made. Dr. Marx responded feelingly.

At the business meeting Dr. Marx read his report for 1922, in which he outlined the work of the association during the year and told of its efforts in helping to provide the city with a ball park as fine as can be found in any municipality in the state of anywhere near its size. He spoke of the splendid records which Oneonta teams have made during the past was passed upon by a higher court, and made many charges, two of which involved Mr. Potter. The question of the right according to law to pay his claim and the second alleged undue influence and wrong-doing in increasing the salary.

CASHIER SAMUEL H. POTTER
DESPONDENT, ENDS LIFE

While both acts were the carefully considered decisions of the directors of the Wilbur National bank, the highest standing for honesty and integrity in the community—and were believed by Mr. Potter to be the first duty due and the latter a fair salary for the responsibilities, yet the fact as he expressed it to Mrs. Potter on Tuesday: "I have given 34 years of the best part of my life to the bank and have always been zealous that every one should bear the closest scrutiny and I positively cannot stand it to have my honesty questioned now." He tried to encourage him, telling that his family and friends knew he was true, honest and faithful to the end and urged him for their sake to be brave.

In answer his associate it was observed that he showed signs of breaking the past few days and to at least one of them he declared that while he knew his claim was just, he could not bear to think of the ordeal of being examined. Not that he feared inability to sustain his course, but in his highly wrought nervous state, it was literally the last straw that he should be required to appear in court to justify his acts, after the record of his life in this city. His fear was more a symptom of his neurotic condition than a confession of any wrong-doing.

His long and zealous devotion to the welfare of the bank, with little diversion to break the mental strain, found his nervous system unable to bear the strain of the disappointments and the implications upon his probity, while his extremely sensitive nature rendered him unable to dismiss them from his mind when sleep and rest should have been secured. Therein lies the story of his sad ending.

There are reasons for believing that the deceased had contemplated for a short time the rash act. The afternoon before he had completed his working papers for making out his income tax report for the past year so that anyone can complete it. The same afternoon he told his son, Philip, where his safe deposit box key could be found. The last evening he laid some $41 upon the dresser in his wife's room before retiring, now believed to have been the money he had in his immediate possession.

Biographical Sketch.

Samuel H. Potter was born at the old Potter homestead at the southern entrance to the village of Cooperstown, February 12, 1852, the son of H. and M. Potter. He was educated at the public schools of Cooperstown, under the instruction of the late Dr. John Wright, then principal of the High school there and widely recognized as one of the foremost educators of his day, who later and for many years was principal of the Wadley High school for girls in Philadelphia, Pa. When a young man he entered the service of the Clark estate at Cooperstown. Later he accepted a position in the Second National bank of this village, wherein he remained for years and received the training for his long and honored career as one of the most capable banking men in Central New York.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Junior Class Meets and Selects Hand-some Design For Ring or Pin.

At a meeting of the Junior class yesterday in the study hall the members of the class chose a design which was either to be put on a ring or pin as the student desired. The rings are of pleasing design and were chosen only after consideration of several other types. The class of 1924 expects to hold its reception in the near future but the date has not as yet been decided upon.

Athletics.

The Oneonta High School basketball team was this evening coming to Cobleskill, where it will play the team representing the Cobleskill High school. Cobleskill has maintained a fine record so far this year and it is expected that the local team will have to play basketball to win. However, the team is a somewhat faster even, the team is a somewhat faster aggregation than in recent games because of late practice. The team is in the best of condition of the year. It is understood that the team will be accompanied with several scores of students from this city.

Glee Club Practices.

The Glee club of the Oneonta High school has been practicing for some time for the annual Glee Club concert. While it has not been definitely decided upon, it is thought that the girls' chorus as well as the boys' glee club will be represented in the concert this year. It is understood that the concert will be held in early April. At a recent meeting the members brought up the question of a charm for members of the Glee club, and undoubtedly the members will decide definitely at its meeting tonight.

WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Esther Colburn of Morris is Bride of T. J. Monahan, Jr., of Oneonta.

A very pretty and quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father Noonan at St. Mary's church Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, when Miss Esther Colburn, daughter of Mrs. Elia Colburn of Morris, became the bride of Thomas J. Monahan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Monahan, Sr., of 14 Division street, this city. The bride was very charmingly gowned in a suit of navy blue with cord, trimmed with gray squirrel, and hat of Alice blue tulle, fur trimmed. Her corsage bouquet was of violets and rose buds. The bridesmaid, Miss Madeline L. Bagen of this city, was attired in a brown duster suit, heavily trimmed, with old rose tulle hat and corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. The groom was attended by his brother, John J. Monahan, of this city.

Immediately following the ceremony a delicious wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents, after which the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to Montreal and New York city, returning from which they will reside in Cobleskill.

The groom, who was educated in the Oneonta schools, has been employed by the Delaware and Hudson company in its maintenance of way department for a number of years. His bride has frequently visited in Oneonta and has made many acquaintances here. Numerous friends of the bride and groom in Morris and Oneonta will extend congratulations and best wishes.
